A Study of the Traditional Pasan Singing Style
(With Reference to Catholics in the Western Province of Sri Lanka)
Iranga Samindani Weerakkody¹

Chanting of Pasan is a prominent feature that can only be seen in the commemoration of the Passion of Christ in the Lent period. This is a qualitative research and by judgment sampling, three research areas in the Western province, Doowa, Pitipana and Maggona were chosen. Interviews, participation observation and analysis of data collected by audio-visual equipment were the main data collection methods.

The main aims of this research are to identify the characteristics of Pasan singing style that gives it its identity and to study about the cultural and psychological importance of Pasan chanting as well as analyzing the changes in Pasan singing styles with socio-cultural changes in society.

A clear variation of Pasan singing styles can be observed from region to region. One of the main reasons for this is the involvement of folk drama and folk literature of that region in Pasan chanting. Another reason is the addition of new items to traditional Pasan singing styles, which has led to the establishment of the identity of Pasan within these regions. New forms of Pasan chanting can also be seen due to modernization. A group worship ritual like Pasan chanting can be seen as a very effective method of demonstrating the catharsis effect.

It can be seen that Pasan chanting has found its roots as a singing style and as a cultural facet in the Catholic community of Sri Lanka.
